

Proclamation

WHEREAS, the Design Build Institute of America (DBIA) is the organization established in 1993 to promote the value of design-build project delivery and provide leadership, education, objective expertise and best practices for the successful integrated delivery of capital projects for its members; and

WHEREAS, Archer Western Contractors, Ltd. was awarded a design-build contract for Johns Creek Environmental Campus Project by Fulton County in March 2006; and

WHEREAS, The Artis Group, CJB Contracting, CERM, Valley Crest Landscape, Excel Electrical, C2I and Ronny D. Jones Enterprise, Inc. were subcontractors to Archer Western Contractors for construction of the Johns Creek Environmental Campus Project; and

WHEREAS, Brown and Caldwell, the Engineer, The Architecture Group, the Architect and specialty subconsultants including Long Engineering, Metcalf and Eddy and S. L. King were responsible for design portion of the Johns Creek Environmental Campus Project; and

WHEREAS, Water Services Division of Public Works Department in-house staff managed and provided oversight for the design, construction and performance of the Johns Creek Environmental Campus Design-Build Project; and

WHEREAS, the DBIA selected Fulton County's Johns Creek Environmental Campus Project over 108 different competitors in the Water/Wastewater Over $25 Million category to be recognized and to receive the National Design-Build Award for 2010 at its Annual Conference on October 18, 2010; and

WHEREAS, the DBIA National Award is the highest honor given annually in each category to the project that best exemplifies the principles of interdisciplinary teamwork, innovation and problem solving that characterize design-build delivery; and

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOVLED, That the Board of Commissioners of Fulton County does hereby recognize and commend Archer Western Contractors, Ltd. and its subcontractors, engineer, architect and specialty subconsultants and Public Works Department on receiving the 2010 DBIA National Design-Build Award and does hereby proclaim Wednesday November 17, 2010 as "JOHNS CREEK ENVIRONMENTAL CAMPUS DESIGN-BUILD PROJECT TEAM APPRECIATION DAY" in Fulton County, Georgia.

Fulton County Board of Commissioners

Chair of the Commission

Attest:

Clerk to the Commission

F U L T O N C O U N T Y

