Communication and Collaboration

Communicating Professionally

Introduction:

Communication influences all factors of your life. The way you communicate is a reflection of who you are and the way you establish relationships with those around you. Our verbal and nonverbal cues heavily influence the messages that we send and receive. Professional communication is essential in the work environment. By understanding the way you communicate, you can increase your probability for success with others while at work.

Who should attend?

Fulton County employees who seek to strengthen personal and professional relationships through clear and effective communication.

What we will cover:

Recognizing how the different communication cues that we send directly impact the receiver's perception of what is being communicated

Understanding how culture influences the way we communicate

Learning how to communicate instructions clearly and effectively

Leadership & Influence

Collaborative Leadership

Introduction:

Collaborative leadership is grounded in the belief that all of us together can be smarter, more creative, and more competent than any of us alone. It calls on leaders to use power of influence rather than positional authority to engage their team, and sustain momentum and performance. The collaborative leadership approach calls on leaders to create an environment of trust, mutual respect, and shared aspiration in which all can contribute fully and openly to achieve a collective goal. This class will focus on collective intelligence and high-quality conversations that build good relationships with direct reports that will engage and motivate them to produce exceptional work.

Who should attend?

Magnifying the Leader in You

Introduction:

True leadership is not about the job or the position you hold in the organization. True leadership is about integrity, trust, competence, valuing people, and helping them to realize their full potential, and in doing so, you inspire excellence. To become more than “the boss” that people follow because they are required to, learn how to transform into a leader that people follow because they want to. In this class, we will discuss 5 levels of leadership that will help you grow as a leader. Through inspiring ideas and practical applications, we will show you how to master each level and rise up to the next level to become a more influential, respected and admired leader.

Who should attend?

Managers, directors, project leaders, and supervisors who are seeking to improve their game and really make a difference in the lives of those they lead.

Effective Meeting Facilitation

Introduction:

What is the purpose of a business meeting? There are lots of great reasons to have a business meeting. If done correctly, meetings can be an excellent way to address important business concerns. Unfortunately, poorly run meetings and meetings that waste valuable time are far too common. To have an effective meeting, you must have an outline and a purpose. This sets the foundation, establishes the parameters, and tells everybody in the room why they are there, for how long, and what they need to accomplish to have an excellent business experience.

Who should attend?

Any Fulton County employee that has meeting planning and/or facilitation responsibilities, or those wishing to enhance their skills on meeting facilitation.

Email Etiquette in the Workplace

Introduction:

The main purpose of your work email is to facilitate clear communication about the work that you do. So why is it (that in many cases) our work email can be the source of a lot of miscommunication? Maybe the tone was off. Or perhaps the wrong people received the message. Could it be that you did not respond to the email with enough information? Whatever the problem is, an understanding and adherence to good workplace email etiquette can reduce or eliminate most issues related to digital communication.

Who should attend?
